The Winning

Combination

Spirit and Spirituality

Deepens Students Faith and Pride

What are the elements of the winning combination? As students enter St. Augustine High School they realize that many things make our school special. One element is the spiritual emphasis that is put on our school. This is shown through our weekly masses in our own school gym, the Religion Classes that we attend during all four years here at Saints, the Christian Service work that certain students take part in, and the manner in which we all treat each other.

Our thoughts on life are different than those of any other school. Our feelings toward our school and classmates are different. Our actions in class, on the field, and in clubs and organizations are different.

Through these activities we show a second aspect that makes Saint Augustine unique from any other school. Our spirit is the emphasis which makes our school stay together. We show this spirit by our rallies, organizations, and sports teams that lead this school. We have that pride of being Saintsmen, showing that we do truly care!

Our parents play a large role in this building of spirit. They give us so much, including the chance to attend this school. St. Augustine is a part of all of our lives, no matter how long they stay here, or the effort we make, we show how we feel about being a Saintsman.

Our spirit and traditions go back to the first years of our school. Being a Saintsman means having the pride to attend a different school. It brings out the true feelings of each student that attends this school. Spirit and spirituality provide the foundation to bring us to the winning combination.

Saintsmen Show Pride

As we shift to the elements of student life, we start to see the various talents that Saintsmen have. The first of these elements is athletics, which starts everyone on the way to success. Even before they spend their first day at school, freshmen are out on the football field learning the basics about sports. Athletics start many friendships and build relationships between coaches and their players.

Students take part in many different forms of athletics which range from Football and Soccer to Golf and Baseball. Through these Sports students can build inspiration and pride in the school. Students learn to have confidence in themselves as well as the people around them.

Each athlete has a commitment to give cooperation, enthusiasm, and the will to win.

For our teams to gain the winning combination they must learn to sacrifice themselves for the team as well as for the good of the school. Each athlete has a commitment to give cooperation, enthusiasm, and the will to win. Through our sports we build character and adventure. With this we learn to achieve the winning combination.

The last element to the winning combination is academics, in which our school has always excelled. Our school has always shown a sense of pride to become the best. From SAT scores to acceptance to major colleges, our students have learned to appreciate the faculty and atmosphere that our school has. We begin our freshman year terrified of Mr. Cudal and end up watching movies in Mr. Lewis' class.

From the first time we come to the school and take the acceptance test, we learn how difficult it will be to graduate from Saint Augustine. After we accomplish this goal and receive our diplomas we know and feel that we have reached the winning combination.

Combination

There is Life After 2:15

Extracurricular activities popular

Not all of a Saintsman's life was spent learning in the classroom or studying at home for the next unit test. There were many extracurricular activities and special events that many Saints-men could and did participate in.

On any given day, during the "Daily Announcements", a Saintsman was informed of sporting events, dances, plays, festivals, and club activities. Any student was welcome to take part and contribute his time, effort, and talent toward making these events possible. Students could cheer their team on at a basketball game, attend a Saints dance, enjoy a club-sponsored festival, participate in contests, or take part in one of the many other activities that took place during the school year. Besides supporting these activities by attending them, many Saintsmen showed their support by helping make these events possible. Saintsmen on the basketball team practiced hard for each game, Saintsmen in the Stage and Lighting crew worked hard to set up for each dance, Saintsmen involved in any club worked hard for the good of the club and for the good of the whole school. Saintsmen contributed what they could, and the result of the combination of their talents and effort was proof of the Winning Combination.

Start of Something Big

Welcome week unites Saintsmen

“Hey Freshman! Carry these books!” was a common phrase repeated by many seniors during Freshman Welcome Week. Interaction was fostered between the class of '86 and the class of '89 through several activities such as, the egg toss, the hot dog eating contest, the water balloon toss, and the trike race. The festivities ended with the Big Brother, Little Brother Lunch.

Welcome week's main objective was to make the Freshmen feel at home and spark enthusiasm. “Welcome week was very much a success”, commented Senior class president David Bilicic, “the seniors demonstrated their responsibility to help introduce the freshmen class (to Saints), and to show them what they (the seniors) have learned over the past three years.”

“Welcome week was fun,” stated Senior class Vice president Ron Espinoza, “it promoted unity in both classes and helped to develop school spirit for all Saintsmen.”

Welcome week achieved its objective. The seniors were able to demonstrate their authority in a subtle yet effective way. With the initiation of a new class to Saint Augustine High School, comes added spirit and inspiration that spreads throughout the entire school. For the class of '89 is truly a “welcome” addition.

A Night of Winners

Maria Crowned; Football Team Wins

With this year's homecoming game coming at the end of the season, there were two big winners. One was the football team who beat the San Diego High Cavers by a score of 27 to 7.

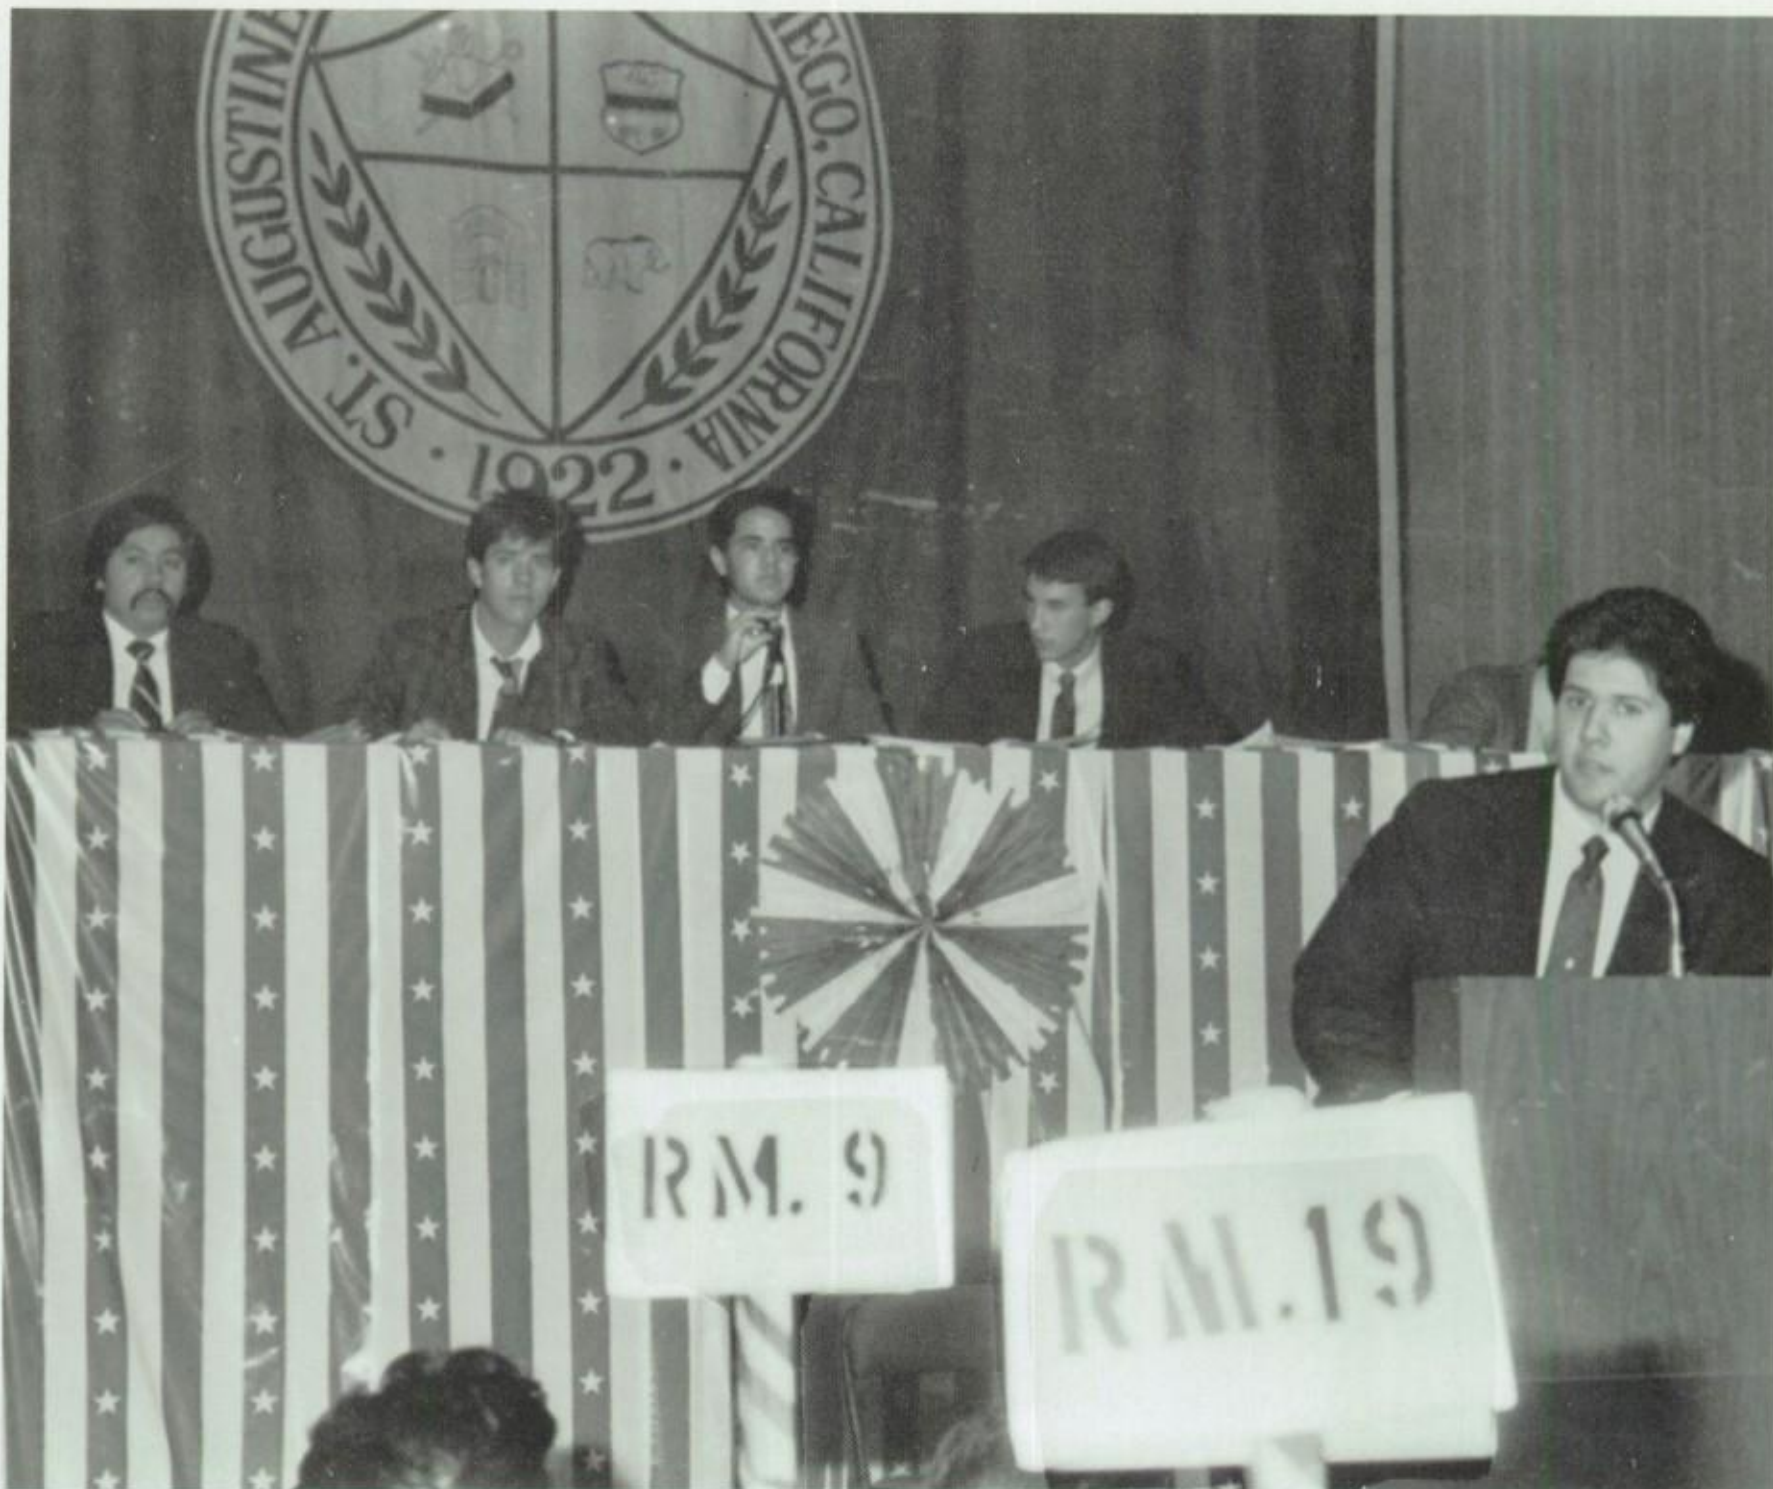

During the first half of the game the homecoming candidates awaited their fate of who was to be the new queen. The candidates were Suzie Avalos, Maria Parra, Lori Pezanoski, and Nicole White. Halftime was approaching quickly and the anticipation was building. During half-time the girls were met by their fathers on the field as they awaited the word on who would win. Finally, the envelope was opened and the winner was Maria Parra.

Maria and her court the next night ate a delightful chicken dinner, and then danced the night away to the sounds of the Defendents, a Saints favorite. The dance was held at the Radison hotel. There was a good turnout despite the price of the bids.

Highlights student government activities

Dedication, organization, and enthusiasm are the words that best describe the Associated Student Body officers.

This year's officers were made up of four seniors and three juniors. John Hilinski, president, showed his dedication by organizing the best prom in years. It was held in the newly renovated U.S. Grant Hotel. We were the first high school to book a prom there.

With John leading the way to organize all fundraisers and school dances, Art Schiele, vice-president, was in charge of finding a band or D.J. for dances.

Secretary and treasurer of the A.S.B. are reserved for juniors to familiarize them with how the student government operates. Robert Wozniak as secretary and Patrick Carpenter as treasurer mastered these duties.

The position of commissioner of communications is usually filled by an energetic and outgoing individual. Billy Martin was no exception. He enlivened the daily announcements and home basketball games.

The intramural system was a success due to the efforts of Commissioner of athletics Matt Turnbull. He set up intramural contests for football, basketball and mushball.

The A.S.B. convention is a very important part of the year at Saints. Commissioner of Elections Stanley Martinez made the convention run smoothly and effectively. The Constitution was ratified and 1986-87 officers were smoothly placed in office.

ASB Ball / Prom

Prom boasts record turnout

Who played at the A.S.B. Ball? Was it Depeche Mode or Oingo Boingo? No, it was the Mardels! This band rocked the Cafe Del Rey Moro with music from the late fifties and the early sixties. Despite a very low turnout, those who attended the dance had a very enjoyable and memorable evening.

The night was clear and star-filled. On the streets of downtown near the awe-inspiring Horton Plaza, limousines slowed to a stop in front of the U.S. Grant Hotel. Saintsmen stepped forth, escorting their dates. This was the night of the Saint Augustine/O.L.P. Prom. It was the first prom to occur at the newly renovated U.S. Grant Hotel. In the extravagant ballroom, a record number of people danced to the progressive music of the Insidentals. They danced from padded wall to padded wall.

Those who attended showed that people are willing to pay for quality. The prom was the most expensive, yet more people than any other dance attended. The A.S.B. Ball suffered from the fact that it closely followed the O.L.P. A.S.B. Ball.

Talent Shows Promise

Band plays in christian spirit

With Mr. Conti leading the band, it was very active in school activities. The pep band played at basketball and football games along with rallies. The formal marching band played at some of the football games. The guitar band and the brass octet performed at the masses. The jazz band and the 32nd street band practiced and performed at school.

The senior band members who achieved success were: George Grauer, Dan Hall, and James Esposito who was awarded the John Philip Sousa award. The band traveled to U.S.D. to perform at a football game. They also performed at our own Mardi Gras. Richard Gomez stated, "I really do enjoy the band. I practice at home every day. I can't imagine not being in the band." This attitude summed up the bands in many ways. The band is a group of young talented musicians held together by their leader, Mr. Conti.

School Life

Is More Than Books

Students had their share of book busting reports and cramming tests. But students had fun during the year also.

Fr. Tim Lamm organized Mardi gras, a full day of festivities. The second annual Mardi gras was a success due to student support.

Students help run the Carnival and also enjoyed the entertainment. There was live entertainment, games, and food which kept the festivities running.

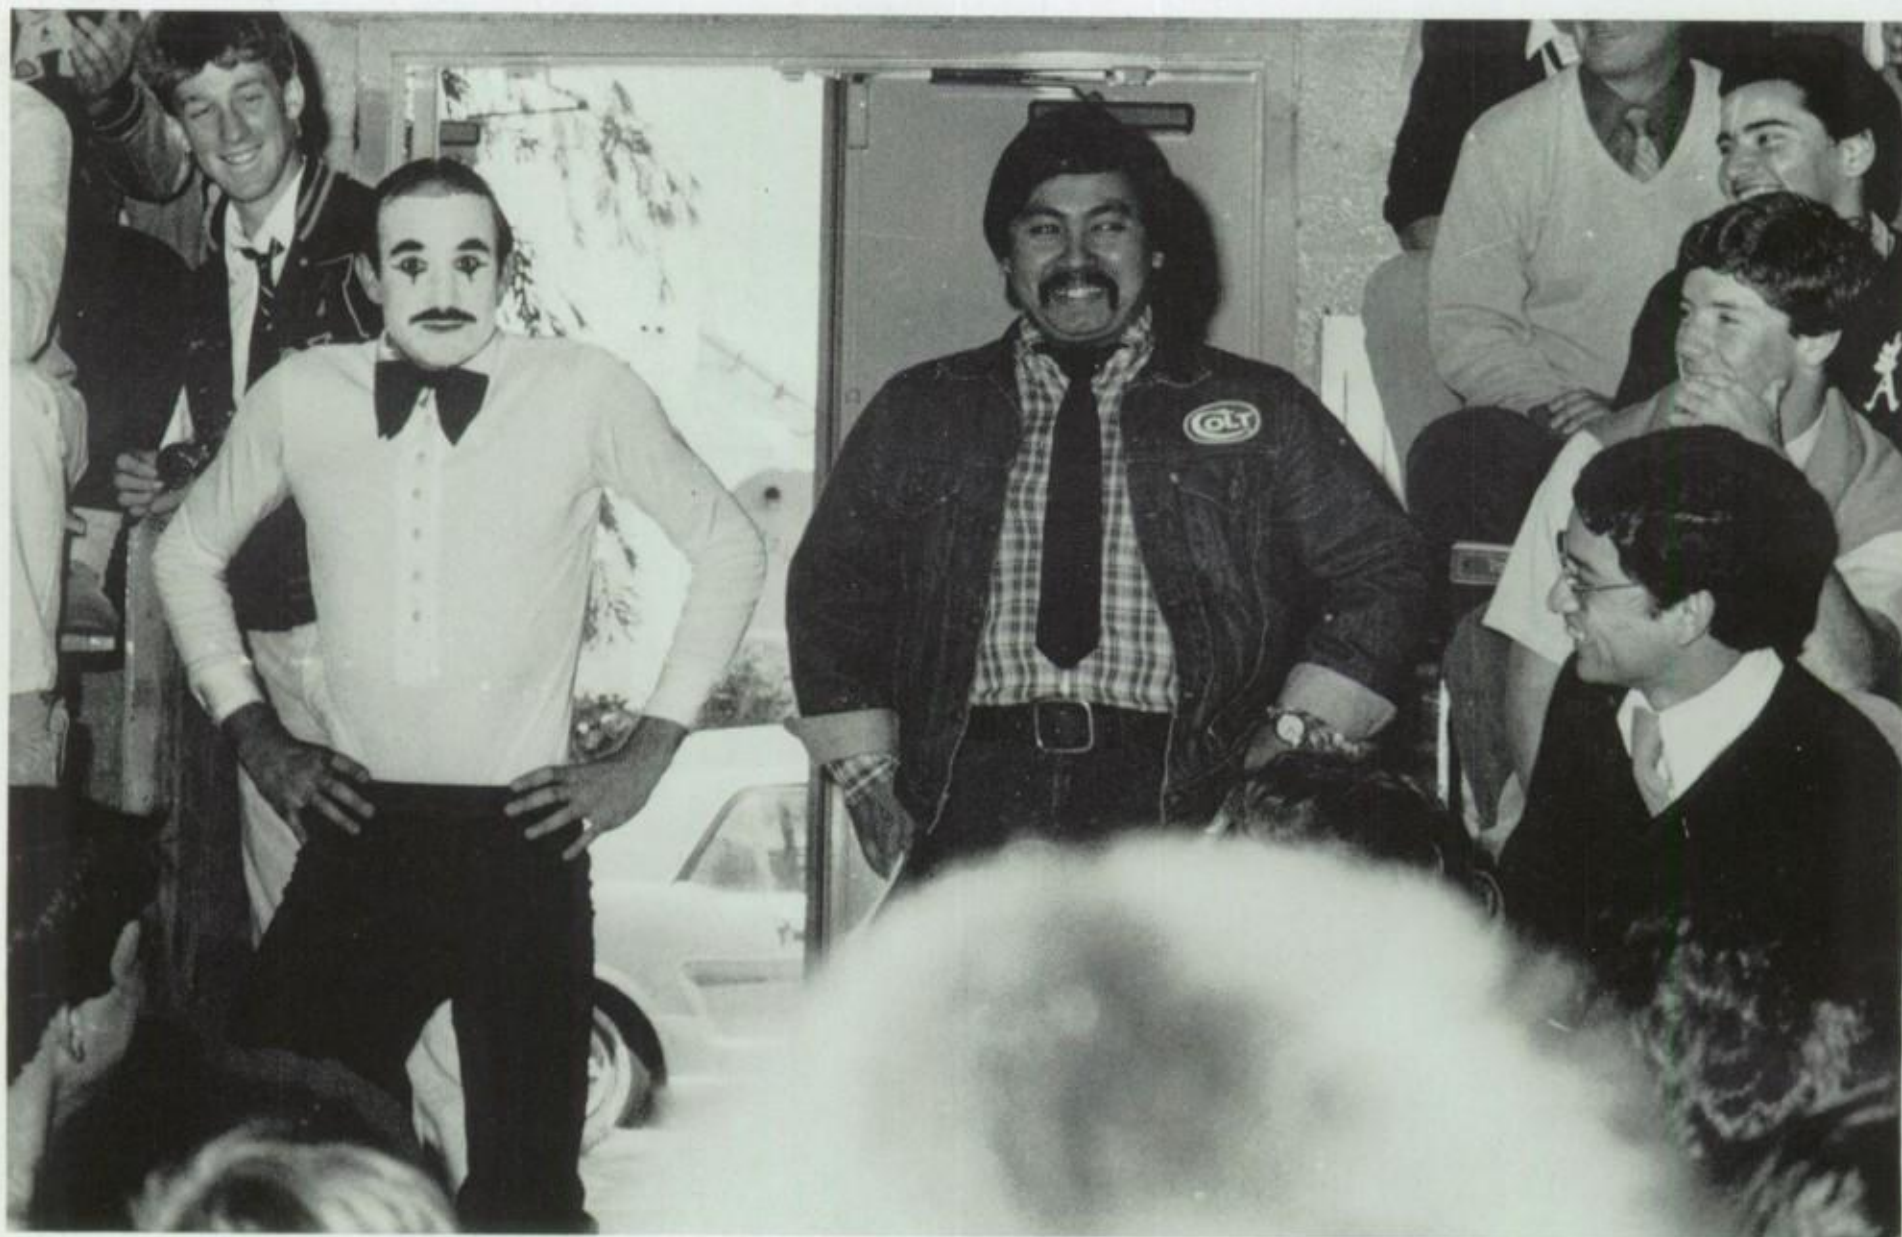

The A.S.B. had Mark Weinsel, a mime, perform for the student body. As before Mark Weinsel had the students in suspense when they were not laughing.

To round off the year they had Dr. Dean, the world's foremost hypnotist perform. Students from Saints O.L.P., and Uni, came to be dazzled by the magic of Dr. Dean. The one to steal the show was senior Billy Wright. He impersonated: Dolly Parton, Peter the Rabbit, Michael Jackson, and a few of the Saint's staff members. Another show pleaser was sophomore Doug Carter dancing gracefully as a butterfly to "Swan Lake."

During the Carnival, Mr. Stewart relaxes.

While being a good subject, Mr. Cudal laughs with the students about Mark Weinsel.

Saints Can Be Serious

And Also Have Fun

Many traditions were brought back and others were continued.

Saints brought back the Lettermen Club. The club is made up of Saints Varsity lettermen, and was moderated by Mr. Rick Stewart. The club brought back Irish Fight Night, for the first time in five years, and was a big success.

A Bowling Club was started by Mr. John Vignol. They met once a week, with teams consisting of four people. The season lasted the length of the semester.

The Key Club once again brought back the Blood Drive. Thirty-nine students contributed to the worthy cause which made it a big success.

The Turkey Trot was started off by Principal Fr. John Pejza. All twenty-one runners took to the one point eight mile run. The only different thing about this trot was that Mr. Mark Fitzpatrick went uncontested to win both first and last place for the teachers.

Early Staff Enthusiasm

Falls short causing late yearbook

One year's success does not breed a tradition. This year's yearbook staff could not match the efforts of the 1985 Saintsman.

That book was the first to be completed on time in a few years and it received many awards for excellence in journalism. The '85 book received a First Place Award from American Scholastic Press Association and a Second Place Award from Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Last March, the book placed fourth in the county at a competitive evaluation by the San Diego Journalism Education Association.

Trying to build on that success, a new staff began the year with a great deal of enthusiasm. They planned out the book early, developed a theme, made an early color deadline, then lost the enthusiasm. The next small batch of material did not reach the publisher until May.

During the summer, Advisor Mr. Reeves and two members of the staff, Jason Azevedo and Alex Balvaneda, worked to complete the over 100 remaining pages of the book. But the task was too large for so few.

The 1987 staff helped wrap up the task. Obviously, the 1986 yearbook staff was not "a winning combination."

During the yearbook competition at Hoover High School, Matt Patrick and Jason Azevedo decide on changes to be made in copy.

Problems Plague Oracle

Staff Undergoes Many Changes

Production of the Oracle this year was hindered by continual changes in the position of advisor, as a result the staff was able to produce just three papers the entire school year. Mr. Kurt Bemby was the Oracle advisor for the first semester. Upon his dismissal Mr. Wilson took control of the class only to be replaced by a third advisor, Mr. David Matt Green.

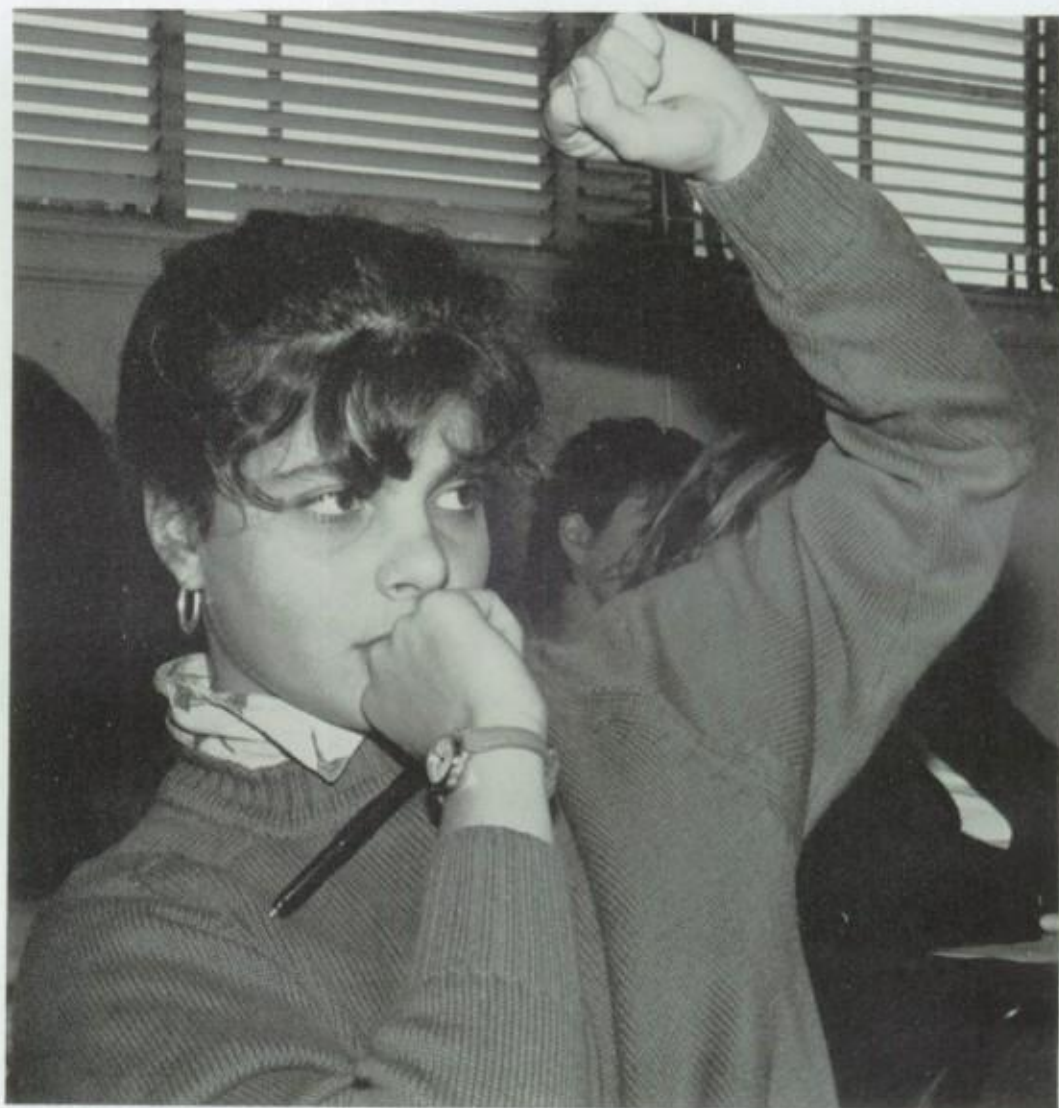

After this change the students from Our Lady of Peace were no longer allowed to attend class; however, the staff continued working and began planning many projects for the end of the year. The students had produced just one more paper when Mr. Green resigned and Mr. Wilson was again forced to resume control of the class.

The staff did attend a journalism competition held at Hoover High School where several of the paper's writers and artists won awards. Staff writer Nathan Thernes saw the problem as twofold, "This year's class suffered from a lack of leadership at the position of editor as well as advisor."

The Academic

Combination

Academics Stand Out

Students show they will succeed

As students grow in age, their abilities to understand grow and expand. Saintsmen grow in many ways; one is the way that they accept Academics as an important part of their futures.

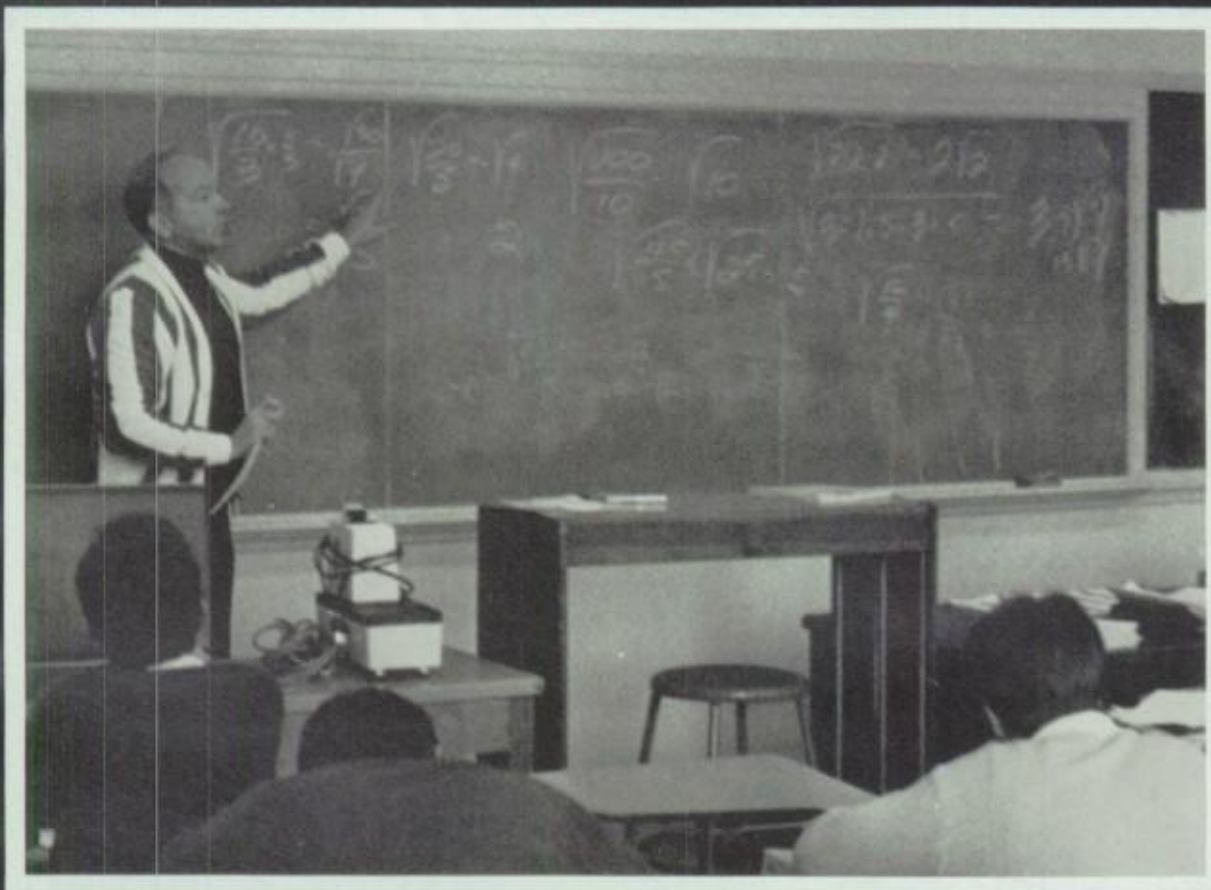

Students begin their ways early at Saints by jumping right into the action. As they come in, they are told the requirements to graduate from Saints. Every freshman learns that he must take four years of religion and English. Freshmen have to take a math class, health, and some form of social studies. Every student remembers these days of fright and willingness to listen to the teacher. As freshmen we come in as boys.

As sophomore year begins, we learn to live under the shadow of the juniors and seniors. We begin thinking about college and the future. We prepare for it by taking classes that will help our plans. Most sophomores take their requirements as well as Biology, Geometry, and a second year of foreign language.

When juniors return, they realize that they are preparing for college. Since the year is the most important to college plans, Juniors take classes that will help them more than ever. They take classes like Chemistry and Algebra II. They begin preparing for the SAT, and they think about colleges that they would like to attend.

As the seniors arrive back at school, they know now why they had put up with everything through the other three years. They are now the leaders of the school and they prepare to take charge and handle their responsibilities. They end up taking classes like Physics and Trigonometry. They all take Civics, but now they have to worry about meeting all of the other requirements. They do this and leave the school no longer as boys, but men.

English Department

Teachers challenge students to improve

Results of several recent national studies indicated high school students lacking in the skill areas necessary for success in college. In response, the English Department continued and expanded programs to improve student skills.

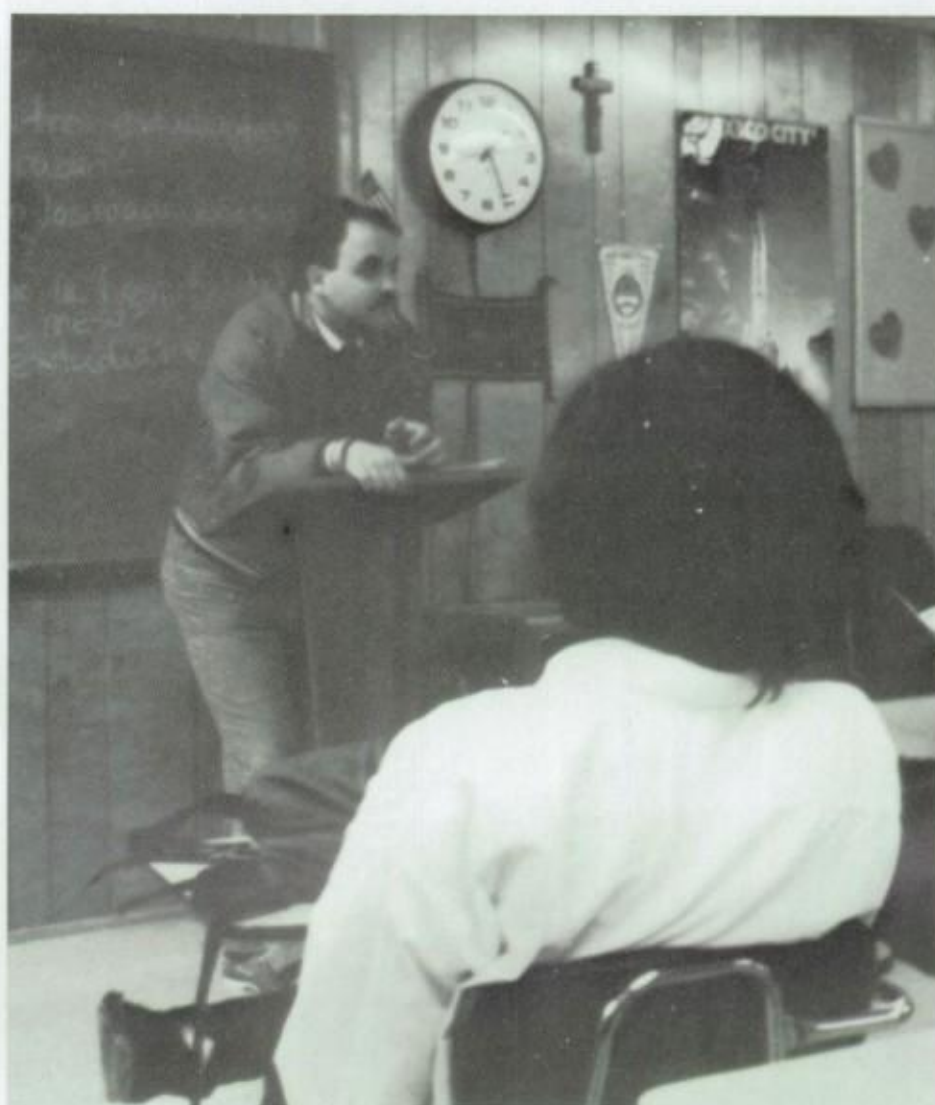

Freshmen were introduced to a year-long study of Greek and Latin roots, prefixes and suffixes to bolster vocabulary skills. The Sophomore class once again sat through the Writing Exam in March and the results were encouraging. Juniors and Seniors struggled with the specific requirements of the research paper.

All in all, the English Department attempted to foster student interest in reading through independent book reports and formal class studies. Students were also encouraged to develop writing styles through various projects.

Mathematics Department

Building skills for students' futures

This year's Mathematics Department was head by Rev. Richard S. Hardick. The rest of the department was made up of second year staff members, Mrs. Michele Eggleton, Mr. Mark Fitzpatrick, Mr. Paul R. Fournier, and first year returning staff member Fr. Walter Vogel. With the exception of eighteen year veteran "Deke" Hardick, the rest of the department is fairly new to Saints. Even though several members of the department were new to the school, they were all experienced teachers. "We have a real strong Math Department", stated department chairman "Deke" Hardick; "They teach the students well and qualify them to work at the college level." The Math Department offered a wide variety of classes to the seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen. The classes varied from Introductory Algebra I, all the way to Calculus.

One change and improvement came to the Math Department in the Saints tutoring program. The tutoring program began last year, and this year grew a great deal. Students that were approved by the Math Department tutored not only Saintsmen, but several grammar school students. Saintsmen were often asked by other students and parents to help others studying different forms of math improve their grades. This tutoring program is only one thing the Mathematics Department hopes to build on for the future.

As time passes in Algebra II, "Deke" works out one of many problems on the blackboard for the class.

Science Department

Working well at all levels

This years Science department was under the direction of chairman Mr. Rick Stewart. Although Mr. Stewart has been teaching at Saints for six years now, it was his first year as department chairman. Other members of the science department included first year returning staff member Mr. Joe Galindo, seventh year staff member Mr. Greg Ranney, and twenty-one year staff veteran Mr. William O'Shaughnessy.

The science department offered several classes to the students at all four levels. Health to the Freshmen, Biology to the Sophomores, Chemistry/General Science to the Juniors, and Physics to the Seniors. With a combination of lectures, labs, and films the science department taught the students well at all four levels.

Social Studies

Experience is the key

This years Social Studies department was headed by Mr. Thomas Beecher. Mr. Beecher has been chairman for five years now, and has been teaching at Saints for nine years. The rest of the department was made up of fifteen year staff member Mr. Ferd Reed, nine year staff member Mr. Gerald Rey, and fourth year staff member Mr. Larry Lewis. Mr. Beecher taught World History, and A.P. American History. Mr. Reed taught World Cultures as well as Health and Accounting. Mr. Rey taught U.S. History, World History, and World Cultures. Disciplinary vice principal Mr. Ben Smith taught U.S. History, and Student-Teacher Miss Katie O'Rourke taught World History.

"The only change that came to the department was the expansion of the Model U.N.," stated department chairman Thomas Beecher. "It drew a great deal of interest and they went to a number of conferences." The Model United Nations is a club directed by the social studies department. Both Mr. Beecher and club moderator Mr. Lewis hope to make it a formal class.

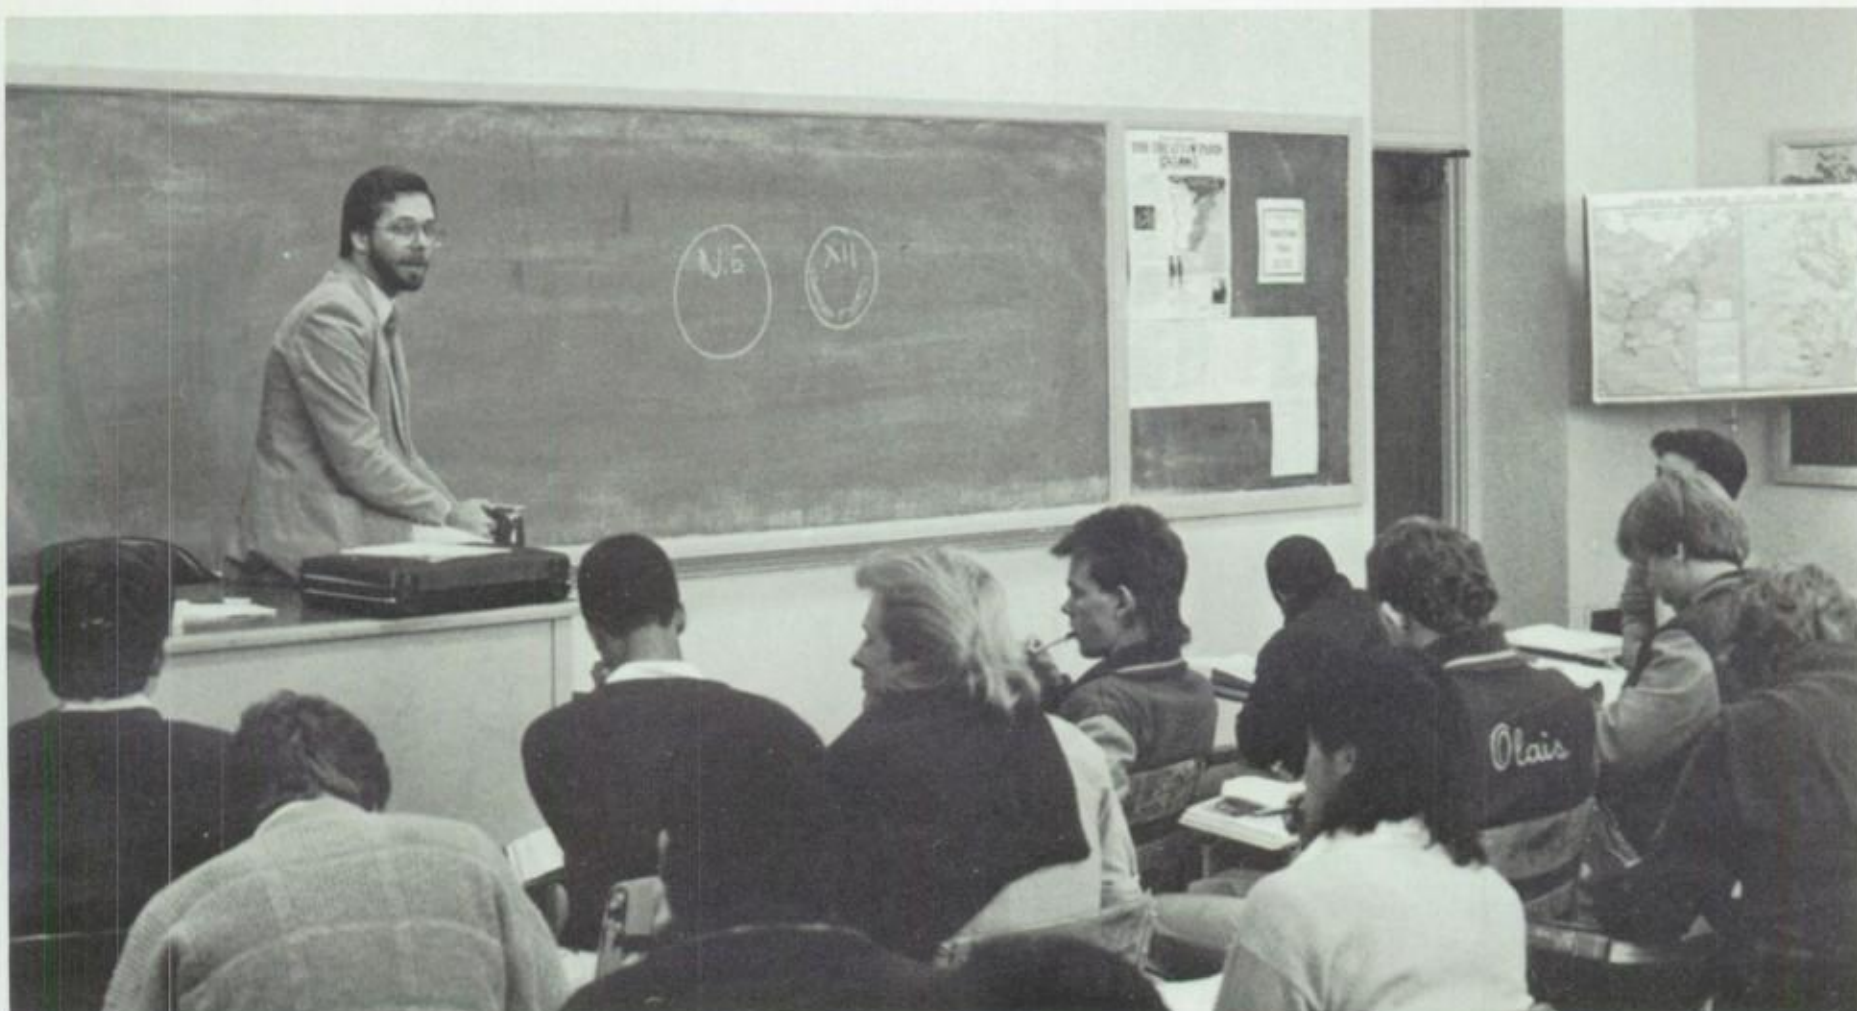

The Social Studies department is one of the most experienced departments at Saints. The four members of the department have over thirty-five years teaching experience at Saints between them. Their experience is a major element to the teaching of their students.

Religion Department

Helping students grow in their faith

This years Religion Department was head by Mr. Thomas Bryant. Other members of the Religion department included; sixth year staff member Brother Jim Retzner, second year staff member Mr. John Vignol, and first year staff member Mr. John Adams.

One change came to the department in the form of a new class. An Introduction to Philosophy class was offered, and plans are being made to offer more upper division classes in the future. The department worked well and offered a wide variety of classes to help each student grow in his faith. "The Religion department separates us from other schools, and the upper religion classes are very applicable to life," commented department chairman Thomas Bryant. "The Augustinian spirit is really important to producing fine human beings." The Religion department is a major element that makes Saint Augustine so unique.

Foreign Language

Giving the students a choice

According to the Saint Augustine graduation requirements students must now pass at least two years of a foreign language in order to get their diploma. Three foreign languages are offered by the department to give the students a choice of what language they wish to study.

This years Foreign language department chairperson was Mrs. Joyce DeJesus, a five year staff member. Mrs. DeJe-sus taught Spanish II, III, and IV. Fourth year staff member Father Tim Lamm taught French I and II. Twenty-four year staff member Fr. William Griswold taught Latin I and II. Second year staff member Fr. Ron Smedley taught Spanish as well as Freshman religion. The foreign language department gives the students a nice choice of which language they wish to study.

As a typical day in class goes on, Mrs. DeJesus shows her class the months and days of the week in Spanish.

Physical Education

A combination of work and play

Once again this years P.E. department was headed by Mr. William Whittaker, a thirty year veteran on the Saint Augustine staff. Coach Whittaker's assistant this year was first year staff member Mr. Mike Stephenson. Coach Stephenson taught Health as well as P.E. Students taking P.E. were required to take part in calisthenics and write quarterly reports. The students worked but also had fun playing sports like softball, football, soccer, and basketball. The Physical Education department used a combination of work and play to teach the students about fitness and sportsmanship.

Fine Arts Department

Continuing to grow

The Fine Arts Department continues to grow at Saint Augustine. Students are now required to take some form of fine arts before graduation, so more classes are being offered.

For the fifth year in a row Mr. Thomas Conti headed the music department. He offered a variety of programs including the marching band, the guitar band, the 32nd street jazz band, and the brass octet. The bands played at sporting events, assemblies, and of course Friday mass.

A new art class was offered this year through San Diego City College. The class, conducted by Mr. Peter Hall, showed and taught the students about various forms of art. The art class was designed to be a fun way for students to get their fine arts credit. A speech class was also offered by English department chairman Mr. Robert Reeves. The class was designed to help the students learn about public speaking and debating. Students are now required to take one semester of speech in order to graduate.

Senioritis Strikes

Class of '86 ready to move on

Senioritis ... an epidemic at Saint Augustine High School for the class of "86". Every senior found himself impatiently awaiting June 9th, when his four year term at Saint Augustine would finally come to a close.

Even though it did not seem like it, academics was a very difficult part of the seniors final year at Saints. Classes such as Physics, Calculus, and Civics kept the class of '86 busy as they awaited Graduation day.

Trying to hit the due date, Matt Turnbull steadily types his report in the library.

Studying for their physics test in the state of total confusion, Joe Bialk and Jon Dumas show that things just do not add up.

As the world turns during block I English, Van McCray and Dino Dougenis work on their grammar exercises.

Freshmen Academics

Meeting new challenges of high school

Well they finally made it. It took the class of '89 a couple of weeks to get accustomed to their new environment, but after that it was all downhill. When the dust finally settled the Freshmen showed they were Saintsman, and that they could hold their own academically.

The Freshmen took part in classes such as English I, World Cultures, health and safety, Algebra I, and typing. Several Freshmen took Honors classes in math and English, and most also took a foreign language. The Freshmen got the ball rolling the right way on their high school careers.

"Going beyond homerow", Andy Bialk works on his typing exercise.

As another one of "Uncle Larry's" discussions goes on in World Cultures, Irwin Guada and Bill Jones try their best to pay attention.

Angel Lopez and Bill Tontz spend some time in the library getting an early start on some homework.

Sophomore Academics

Ready to become upperclassmen

Now that they have one year of Saints under their belts the sophomores are growing much more academically. They basically continued to learn about the same things they were taught freshman year, but of course at a more advanced level. The sophomores also met new academic challenges like taking six solid academic subjects including a lab science.

The sophomores met challenges taking subjects like Biology, Geometry, and World History. They faced their new challenges and learned a great deal. After two solid years of hard work the sophomores showed they were ready to become upperclassmen.

In one of many biology labs, Jason Peterson dissects part of a fish.

During block I World History, Lance Kelm makes a note of something.

While he has some free time in the library, Declan Marmion skims over the sports page.

With time elapsing in the "O" Zone, Scott Caton, Gordon Chaffee, and Tony Evenson work on their Chemistry worksheets.

Junior Academics

Ready to face the future

Most students that attend Saint Augustine High enter as Freshmen, and then spend four years studying at a very difficult curriculum. Although it is debatable, Junior year is probably the most difficult year academically. The Juniors spent a great deal of time studying in classes like Morality/Social Justice, United States History, Algebra II, and of course Chemistry (for most this means a journey through the "O" Zone).

There are several other important elements and activities involved in Junior year. Career month gave the Juniors a chance to listen to many professionals speak about their occupations. The Traditional Junior Ring Mass and breakfast, helped them grow together as a class and show they were now ready for their Senior year.

"Relax and listen" is the philosophy for Larry Barron and Bob Wozniak during Morality class.

During Algebra II class, Leon Olais takes some time to work out a problem.

Brett Brooks pays attention to another one of Mr. Rey's U.S. History lectures.

"Huh", Rod Gaven appears to be a little confused about something in English class.

Sean DeWinter gets ready to take a quiz in English.

Academic League

Varsity Finishes Third

RING! The buzzer sounded. With the score tied, Ed Nanale answered the final question. Time ran out. The answer was correct. Saints had defeated division winning Gompers High School.

Under Dr. Morrison's direction, the Varsity Knowledge Bowl team finished the year in third place with a 4-2 record. The Varsity appeared on the television show, Scholastic Superstars, but they were defeated. The Junior Varsity team finished with a 3-3 record.

In the Academic Decathlon, Saints received three medals. The Decathlon, which was administered in ten different parts over the course of one day, was a test of the students' overall academic ability. The students were tested on their speeches, interviews, and essays. They were required to have an expansive background to cover the various topics.

At the Academic Decathlon, Tom Lynch and Mr. Vignol are pleased with the results of competition.

Sixty-two Tolls of Bell

Diplomas conferred on 111 seniors

At 9:00 a.m. on June the Sixth, one hundred and eleven Seniors stood outside the gym on Bancroft Street. The traditional Angelus Bell chimed sixty-two times signaling the start of graduation ceremonies for the Class of 1986. The Seniors entered the gym for the Baccalaureate Mass. Afterward they attended the Senior breakfast.

Three days later, the same group left the Civic Theatre at about 9:15 p.m. Now they were alumni and members of the 62nd graduating class of the school. During the ceremony, Dr. Brian Bennett delivered the address to the graduating class and Michael Nanale gave the valedictory.

Relaxing after setting up the carnival, band members Mark Garcia and David Prince enjoy the atmosphere.

The Senior

Combination

Fight on You Saintsmen

Seniors prepare for new challenges

Four years ago, a group of about 170 students arrived at Saints. Before they could even become accustomed to their new environment, they were tagged "Freshmen" and were quite literally "under" classmen. Only their future hopes kept them from giving up after the first week. They knew that one day they would be known as "Seniors", and enjoy the privileges that accompanied the title.

As four years passed, the class of '86 shrank in size, but grew in spirit. They had grown to become responsible young men, and the leaders of their school. They had survived Welcome Week, English II, Chemistry and Physics, not to mention countless numbers of term papers, midterms, and finals. The challenges they had once looked toward with fear were successfully met. Before they knew it, it became time for them to think of the future. With the confidence they had built up over four years, they looked toward the future with the same hope they had as Freshmen.

The Seniors were set apart from the rest of the student body by much more than just their off-white sweaters. Their style, leadership, and characteristic wit set them apart from the other classes. Style was seen in their clothes, cars, and hair. Their leadership was first exercised during Welcome Week, and was continued throughout the entire year. Their wit was seen from class to class, and from day to day.

The Senior class set a fine example for the underclassmen to follow. Their leadership, experience, and unique combination of talents were an important contribution to the Winning Combination.

Freedom for Seniors

For about 30 minutes

The fourth class of the day was almost over. Commissioner of Communications Billy Martin read the daily announcements. The final ring of the Angelus bell was heard. It was time for lunch.

Some Seniors went to the lunch line designated just for them. Most went straight for their cars and headed safely and cautiously to the local Jack-in-the-Box.

Many chose to take the pain-staking journey to El Cajon Boulevard where they have the choice of many different fine fast-food restaurants. "Going off campus is great," commented Senior Michael Moeller, "it breaks up the monotony of the school day."

The Seniors enjoyed their freedom for that 30 minute lunch break, but had to remember the bell would still ring with or without their presence. With a decided effort, they gathered themselves together and returned to their campus to continue their learning process, for freedom has its bounds.

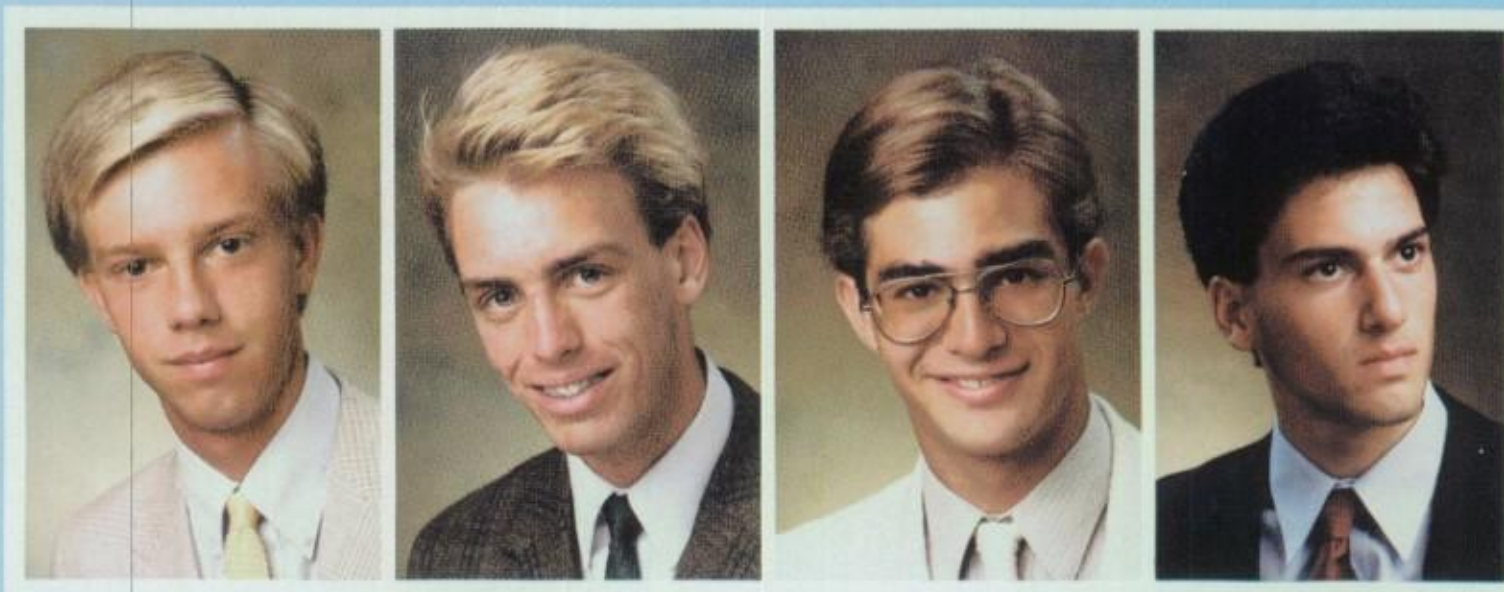

A warning to underclassmen.

Senior Personalities Show Versatility

Versatility . . . the one word that best describes the personality of the 1986 senior class. Each senior was different from the next, in personality as well as physically. This made their versatility outstanding, 115 seniors with a separate personality setting them apart from each other. Each senior has their own unique way of showing their personality, in the school's sports, activities, and classes.

Senior versatility in personality was very apparent. The seniors proved that no two of them were the same, by their style of clothes, style of hair, and style in general. Saints has always encouraged its students to be their own man, and as a result personalities grow from Freshmen to Senior year. Even though each senior was unique, there was one characteristic the seniors shared, they were Saintsman.

What makes up each senior's personality? The car he drives, the classes he is in, the number of sports he participates in, or possibly even the style of clothes he wears. It does not matter because every Saintsman is himself, and uses his feelings to develop his own personality and characteristics. Being unique and being a Saintsman go hand in hand, and give the class of "86" something to be proud of.

Seniors Define "Upper" of Upperclassmen

Senior enthusiasm always plays a major role at Saints. The senior class provides leadership and school spirit that influences the entire student body. Even though the seniors are the minority on campus, they still are the focus of school spirit.

Senior enthusiasm began slowly this year, it did not pick up until Freshman Welcome Week. Seniors showed their enthusiasm in several activities, such as the Saint Augustine Days Carnival, senior ditch day, and of course, Freshman Welcome Week. At the Saint Augustine Days Carnival, the senior booth made two hundred dollars due to the effort that the class put into it. Ditch day offered an exciting day at Disneyland, while welcome week sparked enthusiasm that went throughout the entire student body.

Senior enthusiasm grew a great deal over the school year. "Senior enthusiasm did not show very much during the first few months of school," stated senior class moderator Charles Isaacs, "they showed more spirit as graduation came closer." Realizing that their time was running out, seniors picked up their spirit and left their mark at Saints.

Senior Class Officers Excel in Leadership

While most seniors only met with the challenge of attending school functions, the senior class officers had the responsibility of planning and coordinating them. As a result of last year's election, David Bilicic became Senior Class President, Ron Espinoza, Ed Monge, and Nyle Marmion were also chosen for the positions of Senior Class Vice-President, Treasurer, and Secretary, respectively. Over the summer, they discussed ideas for the upcoming year, and implemented them when they returned in September to school. As the other seniors returned to school, much of the behind-the-scenes work of the senior class officers went unnoticed, but as the year progressed it became apparent that their hard work was paying off. The activities began with Freshman Welcome Week. "In the past few years," stated Secretary Nyle Marmion, "Freshman Welcome Week seemed to be slipping downhill." However, his fears were proven wrong, and the senior class officers set it back on track. The officers also worked well in getting the seniors the privileges they wanted. These included the senior priority lunch line and off-campus lunch. Disciplinary Vice Principal Ben Smith is pleased with the way the seniors have behaved, giving much credit to the senior class officers.

The officers work very well together; they had already been good friends. According to Nyle Marmion, this served to minimize friction between them and eliminated personality conflicts. This is one reason that these four worked so well to create such a successful senior year.

The main goal of the senior class officers according to Ron Espinoza is to "create more unity." Many of the plans for the year were centered around giving the senior class this unity. Great planning went into every activity, with hopes that it would bring the class together.

As the year closed, the senior class officers hoped to leave one thing behind; to serve as an example to the new officers.

College Talks Help Seniors Decide

As the 1985-86 school year comes to a close, 115 Saintsmen will leave the sheltering walls of Saint Augustine High School. As their time at Saints runs out, each senior finds himself thinking about his future. Several college talks were given over the course of the year to help the seniors make the best decision about their college career. Many colleges representatives visited the campus and gave the seniors information about admissions, curriculum, and student life at the college they represent. There are so many colleges and universities to consider. Each senior realizes the importance of selecting just the right college. The college talks are designed to give the students knowledge to make the correct decision for him. "The main purpose of the college talks," explains college counselor William O'Shaughnessy, "are to educate the student about college life, curriculum, and financial aid." It is important to know what each college has to offer before the seniors can apply and make their first choice. Mr. "O" further commented, "It is an educational process, to see if the student fits the college's needs and to see if the college fits the student's needs."

The talks are extremely beneficial to the senior class, and they are greatly appreciated. "College talks are very helpful to me," commented senior Joe Bialk, "because they give me a better understanding of the colleges throughout the state of California." The seniors realize the importance of choosing the right college and carrying on with their education. College talks are just a part of the information Saint Augustine gives the seniors to help them realize their options after graduation. Over 35 different colleges and universities visited our campus this year to enlighten the seniors and to show them what college has to offer.

The Underclass

Combination

Underclass Show Pride

With athletics, academics and charities

Under the leadership of the senior class, the juniors stood out as a major part of this year. With many of the class participating in varsity sports, academic tournaments, and charity work throughout the community, they showed that they would be able to successfully take over the position of the seniors. The juniors went on to a successful homecoming and an exciting year. They went on to become the winning combination.

This year's sophomores showed the most spirit and determination to become a vital cog in the Saints machine. They led many of the rallies and showed their leadership during lunchtime by keeping the campus clean. The sophomores proved that they could become the winning combination.

The freshman class came in afraid and alone. With no friends, they had to make it by themselves. They made it through freshmen welcome week, dance lessons, and the abuse they had to take as freshmen. The class was aided by good leaders who showed their enthusiasm toward the school by leading their class with confidence. They went into the summer knowing that they were now Saintsmen, and they knew that they could keep the winning combination alive.

As the underclasses did their jobs, they kept the winning combination alive. All underclasses have to live under the shadow of the seniors, but they did not fold and they did not give up on any situation. They proved that they were the winning combination.

It Takes Two To Tango

Frosh experience O.L.P. culture

Dance lessons are an experience that no Freshman will ever forget. For the first time, the Freshmen of Saints are brought together with their sisters from O.L.P. Not only do the Freshmen learn to dance, but they are also given the opportunity to meet people and make friends.

The tradition of dance lessons is one that has been with Saints for generations. The students spend two weeks learning formal ballroom dance steps from a professional instructor. The two weeks of instruction are coordinated by Mr. Cudal, the Freshman moderator, and supervised by the Senior Class. For the most part, dance lessons are a success because of the wide support they receive from the student body and faculty. Most students agree, however, that even more memorable than the dance lessons is the party afterwards.

The Sports

Combination

Saints Athletics

Strive to perform and win

Saints sports teams this year proved that they were the winning combination. As the fall season began, Cross Country showed their talents by taking first place in the Central League, proving that they could win a very strong league. The second sport during the fall season was football. With a strong outlook the team came into the season with an abundance of confidence. They were out on the field everyday working hard and showing they did care. Though the team ended with a 2-8 record, they proved they had the winning combination by defeating San Diego in the Homecoming game.

As Saints moved into the winter season, talents began to blossom. The wrestling team, by taking first place in the Central League and third in the C.I.F., proved that the school was a dominant power in the city. The next winter sport was soccer, which proved once again that it could compete for the league title. The team placed second in the league, one game behind San Diego. The basketball team showed its skill by finishing second in the league. These teams proved that they were part of the winning combination.

As the spring season started, the clubs started swinging with the Golf team, which once again finished first in the league. The Tennis team swung their racquets and took first place in league and second in C.I.F. The baseball team showed what they had by defeating Hoover, the league's defending champion. The Track team showed the inspiration of the school, taking second in league.

This year's athletics showed the meaning of what the winning combination is all about.

Wins Come As Bookends

High expectations fall short

The varsity football team had high expectations for the 1985 season. With several lettermen returning and fine young talent taking the field, the Saintsmen dominated Coronado in the first game and the season looked promising. After nearly pulling out a victory against a tough Carlsbad team, Saints was ready to take on University in the annual Charity Bowl game.

Dropping eight straight games to their opponents, the Saintsmen beat San Diego High for their Homecoming.

The Saints were led by Senior standouts Joe Shandley, Ernie Lopez, Pat Heffler, and Chip Delancy. Shandley went on to make All-League. The team finished the season with a 2-8 record.

Frosh and J.V. Football

Show traditional St. Augustine pride

“Good old St. Augustine pride” was how Coach William Whittaker described the Junior Varsity and Freshmen football teams. The players showed pride from the beginning of the summer to the end of the season. Though at the end of the season, their record was not what they had anticipated, the players were proud of their accomplishments.

The Junior Varsity team managed to play well throughout the season. Their 4-5-1 record did not show all of the hard work that went into the season. The pinnacle of the season was their victory against Lincoln High School, whom they had not won against in years. The coaches gave the M.V.P. award to Derek Dahlen and the Coaches' award to Robert Piconi.

The Freshmen team was unique. They did, however, lack the talent that comes only from experience, which accounts for their 2-6 record. The team was led by Quarterback Greg Stevens. The coaches gave the M.V.P. award to Bill Hamilton on offense and Clayton Smith on defense. The Coaches' award went to John Muller.

The Junior Varsity and Freshmen Teams showed the pride that has been associated with Saint's athletics over the years.

As Tony Stanich receives the snap, the J.V. offensive line mobilizes to defend him.

Central League Champions

Shows determination in winning title

Throughout the season, the cross country team demonstrated their dedication to completing strenuous workouts. By doing these workouts and exhibiting their determination, the team was able to achieve a successful season. Not only did the team tie for the league title, but they also placed fourth in the CIF finals.

The varsity team consisted of five sophomores, four juniors, and four seniors. Out of the varsity team, three members; Francisco Morales, Matthew Roman, and Robert Brand, made the All-League runners list. Members of the team also achieved academically. Eight runners were recognized by the San Diego Tribune as Scholar-athletes for maintaining a grade point average of 3.0 or higher.

The junior varsity team showed the same determination as the varsity team. They won the league title and many of its runners were also recognized as Scholar-athletes.

Talented Basketball Team

Finishes second in league

The varsity team defeated the two teams picked to win the Central League title, Hoover and Crawford. They tied with Hoover for second place during the regular season but later went to a play-off game against Hoover for second place. The team placed tenth in the county and made the first round CIF playoff games.

At a home game, co-player of the year Charlie Applegate concentrates on a free throw shot.

They also participated in the Kiwanas Tournament and won the consolation championship. They ended the season with a record of 13-12.

The players worked hard for their accomplishments and had great support from the fans. According to Deacon Hardwick, "It was the finest year for team support." During the league game against Hoover, the Saints' gym was full with fans and during the CIF first round playoff games against Castle Park, at Castle Park High School, the Saints' fans followed the team in two buses to lend their support.

Frosh-J.V. Finish Even

Mediocracy characterize seasons

The freshman and junior varsity teams finished with even records after they overcame physical obstacles. The J.V. team, led by M.V.P.'s Tony Stanich, Larry Garcia, and Mark Strawbridge, finished with a 9-11 record. Coach Galindo did not have much height to work with so they were lacking in the rebounding aspect of the game. The J.V. had excellent shooters and they had a good quick press defense. The J.V. team overcame the lack of height and a tough schedule to finish with a mediocre record.

Early rising freshmen learn fundamentals of the game from Father Griswold and Coach Stevenson. The freshmen team practiced from 6:45 to 7:45 every morning. Coach Stevenson commented that all the players were "team oriented" and they wanted to win. The freshman M.V.P.'s were John Russell, Mike Gergen, and Theo Rosales. The frosh finished their 18 game schedule with a 9-9 record.

Central League Underdogs

Take title in final match of season

“We were the underdogs of the league,” stated wrestling coach Craig. At the beginning of the season the Saints wrestling team was not expected to take the league title. They were in a strong league, but were able to defeat teams like San Diego High School and the defending champions, Hoover High School. The varsity team was made up of fourteen members, three of which were seniors.

The team participated in five tournaments in which they performed well. They placed third in two tournaments and in the CIF finals. The varsity team finished the season with a record of 5-1.

The junior varsity team participated in three tournaments. Tim Lunardi received the only M.V.P. award offered to the J.V. team. Angel Lopez and Tim Lunardi were the only two J.V. wrestlers who made the Varsity team and lettered.

Young Talent Leads Team

Soccer team clinches playoff spot

The soccer team was gifted with remarkable talent. The team boasted a 6-3-1 record in Central League matches. They clinched a playoff spot in the CIF tournament, though they lost the first game to Clairemont. The team finished in second place in the Central League. This year the team also participated in the Grossmont soccer tournament.

In the awards area, three Most Valuable Player awards were given out. Eric Backman received the Pepsi MVP award, Ron Espinoza — the Defensive Player of the year, and Paul Thomas received the senior award. In the Central League awards: Eric Backman, Ron Espinoza, and Larry Baron received First Team All Central League recognition. Mike Albers and Ponci Gallegos received Second Team All Central League honors. Coach Tom Bryant stated, "The team was inconsistent in its approach to the game. This was due to a very young team. We had only four seniors on this year's soccer team."

Hard Working Swimmers

Take fourth in league

Coach Mike Stephenson characterized the swim team as "Hard working, but they liked to have a good time." Coach Stevenson, in his first year as head coach, was assisted by Katie O'Rourke.

The swimming team came out to a slippery finish of 4-5 in a tough league. The young team consisted of only one senior, nine juniors, eight sophomores and three freshmen. The outstanding swimmers were Scott Caton in backstroke, Pat Carpenter in a City Conference breaststroke, and Jim Muller and Bob Wozniak in the sprints.

The team practiced everyday for an hour and a half in the sometimes cool weather.

Most valuable swimmer went to Scott Caton who achieved the most points on the team. The award of most inspirational went to Steve Cwiak, with Jorge Zapata winning the most improved.

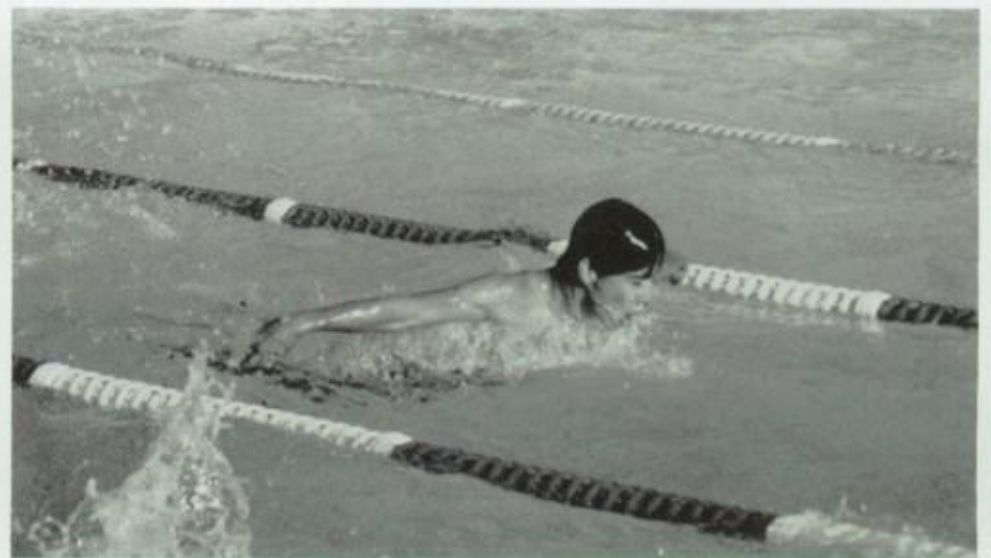

For the most part the swimming team knew that they could have had a better year but were unexperienced. Bob Wozniak came out of the season saying, "We should be better next season because we will be more experienced."

Central League Champions

Play in finals of CIF 2A tournament

After a young Saints Tennis team upset #1 seeded La Jolla 6-1 in the semi-final round, the scene was set for the CIF finals. On May 29, one senior, three juniors, two sophomores, and four freshmen matched up against an all senior team from Bishops.

The Saints scored the first two points in #1 singles and #3 doubles victories. Bishops then rallied with three straight points, only to see the Saints tie the match with a win at #2 singles. Finally, Bishops won the last point in a three-set match at the #3 singles position.

The Saints came out on the losing end of a 4-3 match. But they had played in the CIF finals, a goal that had eluded them in four year's consecutive playoffs. Coach Bob Reeves knew the team had that potential. "We expected the Bishops match to be close, possibly 4-3; it just went the other way. This team has a lot to be proud of."

And indeed an overall 18-5 record, fourth consecutive Central League title and 10-0 season, and great individual successes of team members, were impressive. Steven Joyner, in singles, and Jeff Priske and Eugenio Casta, in doubles, represented the team at the Grigg's Cup in Ojai, California. Joyner advanced several rounds in the tournament. Freshman Marco Zuniga, playing independently in the tournament, was runner-up in 14's division.

The team scored impressive victories in pre-season action over Pt. Loma (7-0), Madison (7-0), Serra (6-1), Hilltop (6-1), and University (5-2). Invited to play in the Bishops Tournament for the first time, the Saints lost to 3A Poway (4-3), and Bishops (6-1), before winning over San Pasqual (7-0).

Six members of the team were named all-league: Steven Joyner, Angel Gavaldon, Jeff Priske, Billy Tontz, Pablo Zaragosa, and Marco Zuniga. Also, eight members of the team were acknowledged as scholar-athletes by The Tribune: Ralph Inzunza, Steven Joyner, Angel Gavaldon, Ralph Ninh, Jeff Priske, Maury Thibodeau, Billy Tontz, and Rusty Tontz.

Track and Field

New coach strives for dedication

With the departure of Michael Healy, Mark Fitzpatrick took over the controls for the track team. Mr. Fitzpatrick led the team to a record of 4-1 in league and 6-2 overall with the only losses coming to Western League champs La Jolla and Central League champions Crawford.

"This team showed a great lack of dedication," said Coach Fitzpatrick. "We could have won league but no one acted like they cared. But the people who really wanted to win would always practice and really cared." This was evident with allleaguers Shawn Rover and Chip Delancy. Chip broke a long-standing school record in the discus with a throw of 161'6". Chip was also third in CIF competition and fourteenth in the state.

Most Valuable Varsity Player was Matt Roman in overall competition. Ted Keppler was named outstanding distance runner. Chip Delancy was MVP in field events.

Coach Fitzpatrick was pleased with the performance of the JV team. JV MVP was Joe Singer and Von Butler in field events.

Attitudes salvage season

How negative can one be when speaking of teams who may have lost games but whose attitudes and sportsmanship carried them through an overall successful season? Nothing negative could be said of the baseball teams whose hard work and determination pushed them through a not quite so extraordinary season.

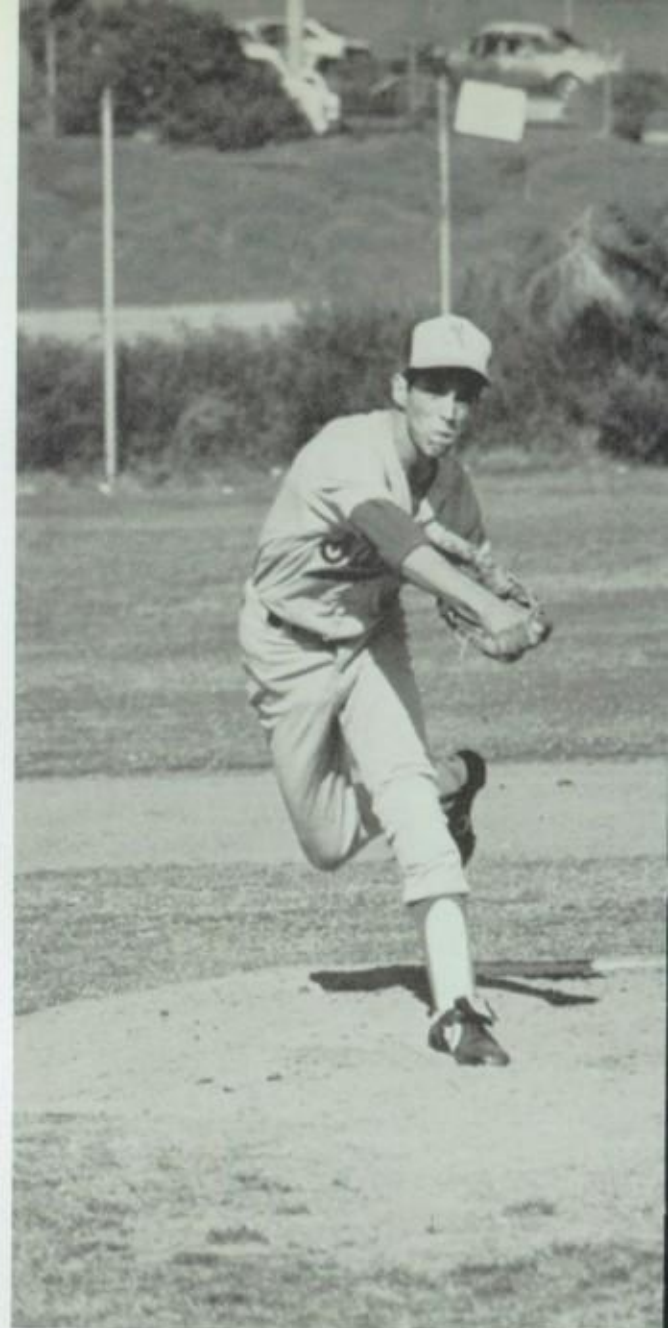

The freshmen were considered the "best freshman team ever," by Coach Tom Bryant. The entire team was considered to be outstanding as both players and sportsmen. Awards were given to a number of the players including the M.V.P. award to John Muller, the Hitting Award to Rudy Villareal, and the Pitching Award to Mike Mossuto. The entire team's attitude was called super and positive, and the team finished with a 7-3-1 record, with their losses to junior varsity teams.

The junior varsity finished with a 6-9 league record but were considered a well-disciplined and positive team who complemented each other and never quit, despite a loss. The team practiced two hours a day, five days a week, and improved greatly over the season. The outstanding players were Mark Strawbridge, voted M.V.P. and finishing the season with a .578 batting average; Damien Dellabarba, considered the most inspirational; and pitcher Larry Garcia.

Pitcher Robert Lozano carried the varsity team to an inspirational finish with Lozano being voted to 1st team all league, Pat Heffler and Pat Hickey making 2nd team all league, and honorable mentions going to Paul Shea and Nathan Thernes. Although the team finished the season with a 2-8 record, it never ceased to play competitively. With six seniors leading, the team practiced hard and had a promising chance of a C.I.F. spot.

All of the teams had an excellent season as far as attitude and teamwork and team spirit. And nothing can be said about teams which show their opponents what kind of school they are.

With a look of extreme determination, pitcher Robert Lozano launches another of his curve balls. Lozano made 1st team all league.

Golf Tees Off

To A Winning Season

The young man stood, poised and intense, looking out over the vast green landscape right into the face of his nemesis, the 18th hole. He raised his arms to swing and he was not disappointed with a perfect stroke.

That was the way it looked for the golf team throughout the season. As a whole, the team reached up an impressive 14-4-0 record for the year. With a 7-1-0 record for league match play they captured the Central League title. By winning the C.L. they also won a chance to play in the C.I.F. Championship Tournament, in which they finished 7th county wide. "We felt we were unlucky to be 7th in the county. Unfortunately, we didn't play our best when it really counted," said Coach Ranney.

The element that allowed the team to be so successful was, in the words of Coach Ranney, "The presence of good golfers." That presence was undeniable with four All League golfers: Charlie West, Kevin McMahon, Brian Lennon, and Ruben Sanchez; chosen to represent S.D. County in the State Finals. Ruben Sanchez was also the C.I.F. Player of the Year for San Diego County. "It was my greatest accomplishment so far. I was proud to represent Saints and look on it as a milestone which I hope will inspire even greater accomplishments."

Once it was all over the team had obvious reasons to celebrate. Not only had they been champions, but they had grown as golfers and as people. Speaking for the whole team, Coach Ranney said, "We deserved it."

As Brian Lennon practices his swing, Hector Lujan looks out over the fairway.

On the putting green, Charlie West practices before a match.

Working out at the driving range, Ruben Sanchez practices for that fairway shot.

During a match Kevin McMahon readies himself to drive the ball to the green.

Halftime activities of the Charity Bowl included the construction of the "three-man-high" pyramid by members of the Saints cheerleading squad.

While the football team battled it out on the field, Ben Willetts and Joe Fletcher celebrated a spectacular play with a "High-5."

After a routine cheer, Lorri Pezanoski and John Grettenburger dazzled the crowd with a "High-T."

As the band performed a familiar tune, Halo Joe George Asimacopoulos amused the crowd with his antics.

Male Cheerleaders

The Tradition Revived

Not all the Saints cheerleaders were wearing skirts this year. That's because the tradition of male cheerleaders has returned. Complimenting the girls in performing cheers, they added depth and volume to the cheer squad. The boys also added many new dimensions to the crowd encouragement by executing partner stunts and building human pyramids. Their crazy stunts and antics livened up the football games, and their spirited cheers helped the basketball team to a winning season.

Cheering at Saints sports events and spirit assemblies was not the only activity the cheerleaders undertook. In keeping with the tradition of most schools, the squad served fruit and drinks to the football teams during hell-week in the summer. Unlike most schools, however, our squad had guys on it, which made it somewhat of a novelty. This is the reason they were invited to cheer at many novel events outside of the school such as the Special Olympics, held at SDSU. They also made an appearance on the Broadway Pier in downtown to cheer for Dennis Connor and his yacht "Stars and Stripes" at his "Bring Back the Cup" rally. Being not only spirit raisers, but also an important public relations tool, the cheerleaders served as ambassadors to grade schools in hopes of bringing more students to Saints. Showing how multi-faceted they really were, the cheerleading squad also participated in cheerleading competitions, on both the county and state-wide levels. After sacrificing weekends and even vacation time to practice, they placed third in San Diego county and ranked in the top 20 in California.

After an exciting first half, Suzie Avalos demonstrates her talents as a cheerleader.

In their performance at Magic Mountain, Front row: R. Maruca, S. Avalos, M. Biner, J. Moser. Middle row: S. Tanega, M. Early, M. Parra, J. Sorgi, P. Wilkins.

Back row: M. Mueller, J. Grettenburger, B. Willetts.

Underclass Cheerleaders

Spirit rallies teams

S -S-SAI...N-N-NTS...SAI...N
T S... SAINTS! SAINTS! Saints' underclass cheerleaders rounded out the sports year with spirit. Plastering both campuses with masses of spirit posters and sports propaganda, they pulled the public's support toward their teams. Even though the freshman cheerleaders came in after football season, their determination and out-and-out spirit rallied the freshman basketball team. This freshman squad, consisting of M. Jimenez, M. Lopez, Y. Payne, A. Pena, K. Smith, and N. Wilson, was a driving force behind the Saints freshman teams.

Equally spirited and exciting were the J.V. cheerleaders. Not only did these dedicated girls cheer the J.V. football, basketball and wrestling teams to great seasons, they lent a helping hand to the varsity squad as well. The J.V. cheered with the varsity at spirit rallies and the Homecoming game. They attended Dennis Connor's "Bring Back the Cup" rally and led the crowd during the varsity's Magic Mountain competition. The great dedication of these Junior Varsity cheerleaders was exemplified by their daily practice after school, weekly cheering at games, and making of signs and posters during their free time. With S. Early as captain, M. Hidalgo, A. Manion, and G. Rickel made this year especially spirited.

Excited after a great play, the squad prepares for a cheer.

Students Prove They Are The Winning Combination

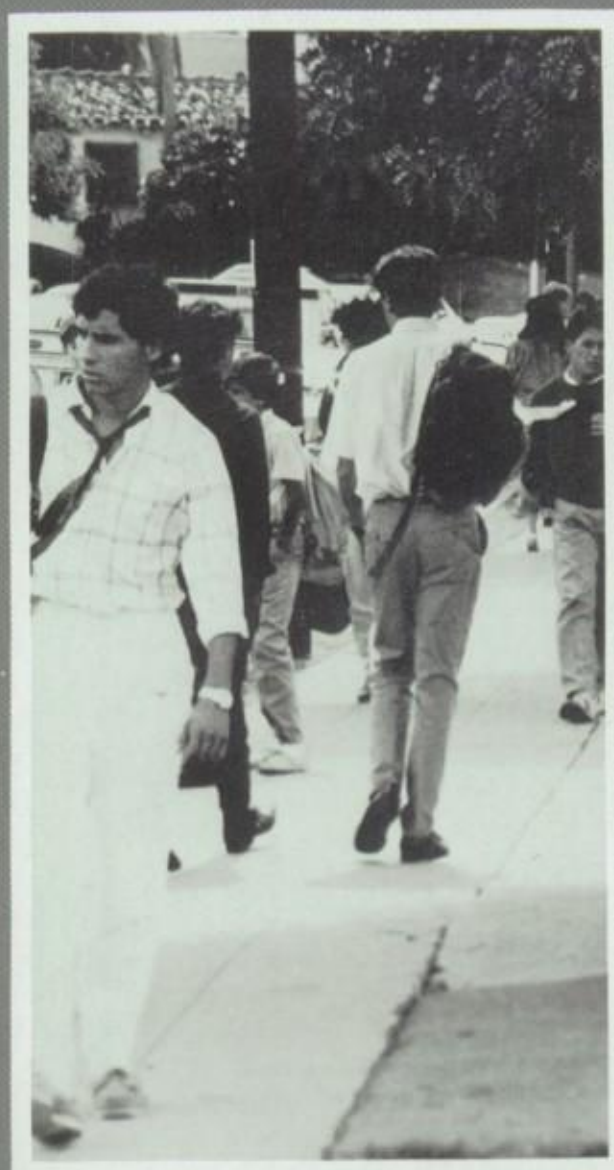

Student enjoy an afternoon chat with Mr. Cudal.

Rushing to finish his homework, Ralph Ninh figures problems in the Library.

After school, students look for their cars or rides home.

This year we have kept the Saints tradition alive. The students here at St. Augustine have learned together as a family. We have learned to accept each other for what we are. We have proven that we can come together as a group and build relationships that will last a lifetime.

Over the years here at Saints, we have begun to learn the value of being Saintsmen. As we go around the city, Saints stands out as an excellent institution. We learn the meaning of being a true Saintman, and we learn to accept the role that we have been given by being part of Saint Augustine High School. People expect more from Saintsmen, and we expect more from ourselves. We learn to build to the goal of the WINNING COMBINATION.

My, oh my — we are having fun. ASB President John Hilinski enjoys the assembly featuring the mime.

As you come to this, the last page of the 1986 Saintsman, you are witness to a most unusual circumstance — no editor's closing remarks. Not one member of the class of '86 oversaw the total completion of this book. The bulk of the work was completed by the succeeding yearbook staff.

Producing a yearbook is a difficult task. The amount of planning, scheduling, interviewing, record keeping, etc., would astound the non-journalist. This is the fifth Saintsman I have served as advisor, the eleventh book I have been involved with since my own high school career. This experience has by far been the most painful and demoralizing. I wish to thank those who have been supportive and patient.

I wish to thank a few members of the '86 staff. Jason Azevedo and Alex Balvaneda worked through the summer and completed their sections — academics and athletics, respectively. Victor Castan and Matt Patrick were effective record keepers.

I would also like to thank John and Darlene Reyman for their special help with photography, Bruce Smith our publisher's rep for his support, and David Matt Green for photo coverage of special events.

This book does not just magically appear each year for Saintsman. Its completion requires dedication and commitment. Its quality will attest to the efforts of a diverse group.
